Manager Commentary

Despite continuing concerns over the health and future direction of the U.S. economy, the month of September propelled 3rd quarter returns to a nice gain. Small cap stocks returned 11.29%, as measured by the Russell 2000 Index. While the small cap market turned in a strong, positive quarter, getting there was not a smooth ride. In July, the Russell 2000 was up approximately +7%, August was down approximately -7% and September finished strong, up approximately +11%.

The Small Company Fund underperformed the Russell 2000 Index by -223 basis points in the quarter. Most of the drivers that propelled the market this quarter would typically tend to work against our investment style. For example, growth outperformed value, higher valuations outperformed lower valuations, higher volatility outperformed lower volatility and lower dividend yielding companies outperformed higher dividend yielding companies.

During the quarter, 4 portfolio holdings were eliminated and 2 new purchases were added.

Our approach to investing identifies quality companies that we believe are temporarily priced below their long-term intrinsic value. Purchases are made primarily on the merits of each individual company, maintaining a diversified portfolio across the various economic sectors. Over the long-term, we believe that our philosophy of owning higher quality businesses at reasonable prices should perform well.

¹ The Russell 2000® Index measures the performance of the small-cap segment of the U.S. equity universe. The Russell 2000 Index is a subset of the Russell 3000® Index representing approximately 10% of the total market capitalization of that index. It includes approximately 2000 of the smallest securities based on a combination of their market cap and current index membership. The Russell 2000® Value Index measures the performance of small-cap value segment of the U.S. equity universe. It includes those Russell 2000 companies with lower price-to-book ratios and lower forecasted growth values. For each fund with at least a three-year history, Morningstar calculates a Morningstar Rating™ based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a fund's monthly performance (including the effects of sales charges, loads, and redemption fees), placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of the funds in each category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. (Each share class is counted as a fraction of one fund within the scale and rated separately, which may cause slight variations in the distribution percentages). For the period ended September 30, 2010, the Fund received 5, 5 and 4 stars out of 556, 475 and 254 Small Blend funds for the three-, five- and ten-year periods, respectively.
