² The Price-to-Earnings Ratio is a forward looking ratio which divides the current price of the fund by its estimated future earning per share. The Price-to-Book Ratio is used to compare a stock's market value to its book value. Beta is a coefficient measuring a stock's relative volatility compared to the benchmark, the Russell 2000. Standard Deviation is applied to the annual rate of return of an investment, to measure the investment's volatility or "risk". The Sharpe Ratio is used to characterize how well the return of an asset compensates the investor for the risk taken.

The Morningstar Rating[™] for funds, or "star rating", is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The Morningstar Rating does not include any adjustment for sales loads. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. For the period ended September 30, 2018, the Fund received 3, 4 and 4 stars out of 652, 539 and 388 Small Blend funds for the three-, five- and ten-year periods, respectively.
